Two Democrats Elected To State's High Courts

By The Associated Press
PENNSYLVANIANS elected Democrats to the Supreme and Superior Courts Tuesday and handed them lopsided victories in the state's big cities.

At the same time the voters decided that the Legislature should meet annually, instead of every other year. But they killed a state wide move to allow school districts to raise their borrowing capacity.

Both measures were proposed constitutional amendments.

The appellate court battles were the only statewide contests. Judge Michael J. Eagen, Lackawanna County Democrat, won a 21-year term on the state's highest court with a 120,000-vote margin over Judge Blair F. Gunther, of the State Superior Court, his Republican opponent.

In the other contest Harry Montgomery, Allegheny County Democratic judge, defeated Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House minority floor leader, by more than 200,000 votes for a 10-year Superior Court term.

60 Percent Vote

Despite ideal weather that bathed most of the state in sunshine, only an estimated 60 percent of the state's 5½ million registered voters turned out. That compares with 80 percent in last year's gubernatorial election.

The biggest local victories by the Democrats came in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

In the state's largest city Democratic Mayor Richardson Dilworth swamped his Republican opponent Harold Stassen by 210,000 votes—the most one-sided victory by a Democrat in Philadelphia history.

In Pittsburgh, State Sen. Joseph M. Barr, former Democratic state chairman, easily defeated a political novice, Republican Paul Reinhold, by more than 50,000 ballots.

The searchers investigated the bark and found the body of Fred Majowicz slumped over a stone fence near a country road about a mile and a half from his home. The dog had remained by his master's body overnight.

Hit In Chest

Those who made the discovery found Majowicz's 12-gauge shotgun beside him. They said he apparently had rested the gun against the wall to light a cigarette but that it had slipped and discharged. A blast struck the hunter in the chest.

Kenneth March, an Orange County coroner, returned a verdict of accidental death.

Majowicz, 29, was an engineer for the International Business Machines Corp. More than 300 State Police, firemen and volunteers started scouring the countryside for him when he failed to return home Tuesday. An Air Force helicopter from Stewart Air Force Base also took part in the search.

Buys Own Ticket

Evelyn told newsmen she bought her ticket at an airline office in the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel after agreeing to meet her mother about an hour after they parted to perform separate shopping errands. They had parted in that manner before, she said, but not often.

The girl's father, police related, said he had taught the much-traveled youngster the details of making reservations, checking baggage through the works.

Airlines officials confirmed that a girl had picked up the ticket for Evelyn's airplane seat. They said an advance call had been made by someone identifying herself as the girl's mother.

Pope Observes Anniversary

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII asked Roman Catholics Wednesday to pray for him during the second year of his pontificate.

The 77-year-old pontiff spoke at a mass in St. Peter's basilica celebrating the first anniversary of his coronation. The throng of more than 20,000 included cardinals and the Vatican diplomatic corps.

Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) died Wednesday after a stubborn 10-month long fight against cancer. He was 44.

The first-term Democrat drew nationwide attention shortly after taking office in January by hiring his young son to work on his staff at an annual salary of $11,873. He later cut this to $6,402.

House Democrats lost another member Wednesday. Rep. Charles Boyle, 52, of Illinois was killed as his auto rammed an air battle near the Israeli—Egyptian frontier Wednesday, their first in nearly a year. Cairo claimed one Israeli jet was damaged.

Lower Fire Insurance Rates Sought

REPRESENTATIVES of the Middle Department Assn. of Fire Underwriters yesterday began a survey of the borough of Stroudsburg as a preliminary to a possible adjustment in fire insurance rates.

The inspector checked the borough's new water system from maps and toured the new filtration plant at Stokes Mills.

Today, the group will conduct float tests on fire hydrants.

There was no indication as to how long the inspection will take or when a report on the department's findings will be available.

The group was originally scheduled to make its inspection in September.

Harold E. Snyder, borough manager, said some homes in the borough may receive some dirty water as a result of the hydrants testing, which starts at 9 a.m. today.

Talks Fail To Settle Steel Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steel industry and union negotiators met face-to-face Wednesday but parted as deadlocked as ever in the 113-day-old strike.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who called the negotiators together, told newsmen the eyes of both sides are focused on the Supreme Court. He recessed the talks indefinitely.

The court has under study an appeal by the United Steelworkers Union from a District Court judge's order that 500,000 strikers return to the long-idle steel mills at least for 80 days. There was no word on when the high court may announce its decision.

The nine justices began their deliberations after a hearing Tuesday, and continued them Wednesday without any announced result.

The proposal for borrowing would have allowed the state's 2,300 school districts to double and then some—their present borrowing limit as a means of meeting current school costs. It would have relieved pressure for extra state aid, most authorities felt.

Under the previous law the Legislature could meet only in odd numbered years, unless called into special session by the governor for a specific purpose.

The new change permits meetings also in the even numbered years, but limits those meetings to budget and revenue matters.

A third constitutional question was approved by the voters. It allows a Pennsylvanian to vote from his old address if he moves within 60 days of an election.

The proposal for borrowing means 300 to 500 million dollars extra in American goods will be sold in Britain yearly, trade experts estimated.

Reginald Maudling, president of Britain's Board of Trade, announced Wednesday the abolition of quota controls as one of a series of actions dismantling Britain's wartime financial and commercial controls.

He said Britain is able to take the step because of its present favorable balance of trade and the strength of the pound sterling.

There may even be an occasional buyer for a costly automobile although it will sell for more than Britain's luxurious Rolls-Royce and Bentley limousines, which go for $15,000.

Quota controls will stay on tobacco, pharmaceuticals and watches. Imports of radioactive materials, arms and ammunition also remain under strict control.

World Tour To Take Like 20,000 Miles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower announced Wednesday he is undertaking an unprecedented 20,000-mile goodwill mission next month to nine nations on three continents.

The pre-Christmas tour will take Eisenhower to Europe, Asia and a corner of Africa.

No president ever has attempted anything like this 19-day expedition to the capitals of Italy, Turkey, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Iran, Greece, France and Morocco.

Eisenhower told a news conference he will be off Dec. 4. He expects to fly back to Washington Dec. 22.

Refers To Scandals

He also did a bit of traveling around at the news conference, touching on developments both at home and abroad.

The President said everyone was astonished and almost dismayed by the TV quiz show scandals and "nobody will be satisfied until this whole mess is cleaned up."

The Federal Trade Commission, he said, is looking into the possibility there was deceitful advertising and the Justice Department will report before the end of the year on whether laws were violated and new laws are needed.

The Communist minister, Eisenhowe, was an obvious topic to raise in protesting anti-U.S. demonstrations in Cuba because:

"We know that the Communists like to fish in troubled waters and there are certainly troubled waters there."

Talked Politics

Then there was the matter of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and the way he is eyeing the Republican presidential nomination. Rockefeller spent 70 minutes with Eisenhowe last week.

For a good portion of the time, Eisenhowe said, they talked about civil defense, a common interest. But also on that visit "we talked politics all across the board," Eisenhowe said. He added, though, that "I could not possibly remember now any kind of conclusion we reached."

Something like a third of the news conference was given over to the travel plans.

Eisenhower said he plans brief, informal visits to the various capitals in response to friendly visits from heads of other governments.

Most of the details will come later. But the President said he hopes to call on Pope John XXIII while he is in Rome. Eisenhowe also said he wants to be in New Delhi Dec. 11 for the opening of the U.S. exhibit at the World Agricultural Fair.

Rockets Tests Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two big American military rockets were test-fired over long ranges Wednesday and complete success was claimed for one that traveled a 4,800-mile course.

The Atlas—an 85-foot rocket slated for a moon satellite shot later this month—roared aloft at 4:37 p.m. About four hours later the Air Force in Washington announced satisfactory performance at inter-continental range.

The Intermediate range Jupiter blasted off Wednesday night on a test flight of about 1,500 miles.

There was no immediate report on its performance.

Grandpappy Of Politicians

Ninth Term For Besecker

By Robert Stewart
MAHON Besecker, of Paradise, is old enough to be a great grandfather, and so to speak, is the grandfather of all local politicians.

He was elected to his ninth term as Monroe County auditor in Tuesday's election, making him, with his present 32 years in office, the holder of one of the longest records of service of any Monroe County official in history.

Besecker's terms, however, are not consecutive. He did not run for office in 1931, therefore, there is a four-year period in which he held no office.

On State Committee

Besecker has been a life-long Democrat, and was elected to the State Democratic Committee for two terms, a post now held by Forrest Smith.

He is 80 years old, plus a few years, he said yesterday, and still walks five or six miles a day for exercise. He was a stone mason by trade until his retirement quite a few years ago.

Two other county auditors were elected, along with Besecker, at Tuesday's balloting. They are Mrs. Mary Emma Teeter Garcia, Republican, and James Cadue, Democrat, the latter for his first term.

Mrs. Garcia was appointed to the position in 1941 to fill the unexpired term of her father, the late H. Layton Teeter, an auditor for two and one-half terms. She was elected to a full term in 1943 and reelected in 1947, 1951, 1955 and again this year.

Fifth Term

In other terms of office, Willard Quirk, reelected as a county commissioner, will serve his fifth term, but the five are not in succession.

Chester Coleman once held several elected posts in the county, being registered and recorder for two terms, and probonoary for two terms. He also served three terms in the Three terms seems to be the limit, with the exception of Besecker, Quirk and Mrs. Garcia since Floyd Butz also lost his bid for reelection after his third term as register and recorder.

Investigation Beneficial

A lot of good is expected to come out of the highly publicized Senate committee inquiry into rigged television quiz programs.

Not the least of these benefits is the satisfaction it gives us common folks to know that such heralded "geniuses" as Charles Van Doren were not super-human after all. All of us can now go back to living in ease with ourselves.

Mr. Van Doren, the accepted "top brain" of all the leading money winners, confessed to investigators that he was coached and given answers in advance of the quiz in which his seeming brilliance made him a national figure. He also admitted he gave false testimony before the New York Grand Jury.

He has done himself a grievous injury, and he and his associates in the quiz game haven't helped television either. One can believe that Van Doren would, as he said in Washington, "give almost everything I have to reverse the course of my life over the last three years."

The consequences of the deception in which he became involved are serious, but for the public they are only psychological—the destruction of an illusion.

Of more direct public importance is deceptive television advertising, which affects the public's pocketbook. Against this long-standing evil the Federal Trade Commission is now taking somewhat tardy action.

Under pressure from the American Medical Assn., the white coats and stethoscopes of television salesmen masquerading as physicians have disappeared. But their sales pitch is, for the most part, as offensive as ever.

Into the FTC have poured complaints that many commercials "exaggerate, irritate and nauseate." FTC Chairman Earl Kinter has ordered increased efforts to eliminate illegal advertising, but beyond its authority are commercials that violate not the law but good taste.

Under the present law these offenses can be eliminated only by self-policing within the broadcasting industry, Mr. Kintner says. But it should be clear to all concerned that if the broadcasters don't meet their responsibilities, Congress will make the law broad enough for the need.

Auto Industry Just Can't Win

In Detroit this week the gloom was as thick as auto exhaust.

The major car makers had already been forced to slow down production of 1960 models because of the steel strike. Then another blow fell.

After finally bowing to public demand that they build smaller cars, the auto industry was told by the federal highway administrator that the little car has become a big highway problem.

Nasser Asks Aid Talks

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—The U. S. is getting set to open trade and economic aid negotiations with President Gamal Nasser—at his request.

Date for beginning these talks is mid-December in Cairo.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Henry Kearns, for international affairs, will confer with Nasser and his economic advisers about restoring U. S.-UAR trade to the pre-Suez conflict level.

Initial aim of Kearns is to double trade between the two nations.

At present, that is running at an annual rate of $47 million as compared to $100 million before the British-French-Israel attack in 1956. During that invasion, the U. S. imposed strict controls on goods to the UAR. Although the restrictions were later lifted, the result cut U. S. trade in half.

Kearns plans to propose an exchange visit of private and government officials early next year as a major step toward increasing economic and diplomatic relations.

He also will discuss with Nasser the extension of U. S. credit and loans to finance purchases in this country.

The UAR president already has indicated that he wants our aid to purchase two broadcasting transmitters here for erection at Homs City, Syria.

Ann St. To Be One-Way Thoroughfare Under New Traffic Plan

Plan Given Approval By Council

JOHN B. Tretheway, Stroudsburg police chief, last night received approval of Borough Council for a traffic plan to be instituted when McConnell St. is completed.

Borough Manager Harold E. Snyder told Council the street, which will carry westbound traffic from the new inter-borough bridge, should be completed by the end of this month.

Tretheway's proposal, supported by Burgess Edward A. Doran, calls for one-way traffic westbound on Ann St. between Fifth and Eighth Sts. and no parking on Fourth St., which will be one way from Main to McConnell.

Through Street

McConnell St., under the plan, will be a through street for Route 209 traffic with stop signs being erected on Fourth and Fifth Sts. where McConnell crosses them.

In addition, parking meters will be installed on the south side of Ann St. to provide parking facilities on that street.

A proposal to extend the one-way traffic on Ann St. to Ninth St. was dropped after Tretheway pointed out the difficulties which would be caused by bus traffic at the American Hotel.

Tretheway's proposal will cut the famous — or infamous — "Five Points" at Fifth and Main to a four-way corner as no traffic from Ann St. will be feeding into the intersection.

Legislature To Convene In January

By The Associated Press

The Pennsylvania Legislature will convene next Jan. 5 to take up taxes and appropriations.

Final approval was given by the state's voters Tuesday to a constitutional amendment calling for annual sessions of the Legislature, which is now in the 11th month of the 1959 session.

Pennsylvanians also approved overwhelmingly a constitutional amendment to allow persons who move within 60 days of an election to vote from their old addresses.

But they rejected the only other referendum—a proposed constitutional change to increase the borrowing capacity of 2,300 public school districts throughout the state.

A distinct minority of the state's more than 54 million eligible voters decided the issues. Nearly two-thirds of the more than three million voters who cast ballots for statewide and municipal offices ignored the referenda.

The vote on annual sessions in 8,370 out of 9,006 precincts was 552,864 yes and 497,388 no.

For the 60-day voter removal privileges the vote in 8,233 out of 9,006 precincts was 816,062 yes and 252,396 no.

The vote on the school issue in 8,370 out of 9,006 precincts was 449,338 yes and 630,536 no.

Interference With Television Reception Solved At Inter-Borough Control Center

ENGINEERS for Motorola, which installed the radio equipment for the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Control Center, have solved the problems of the station's interference with television reception, Stroudsburg Borough Council was told last night.

John B. Tretheway, Stroudsburg police chief, reporting on the center's operations, said the engineers have recommended what he called a "cavity resonator" to eliminate most of the interference.

In some cases, Tretheway reported, it may be necessary to attach a wire to the lead-in of the antenna and trim it to a specific length to eliminate the trouble.

Tretheway said the department had reports of interference from as far as a mile away from the transmitter in Stroudsburg's Municipal Building.

He also reported that it will be necessary to meet Civil Defense's new and more stringent requirements for such operations before other boroughs are added to the center hook-up. He said this may delay expansion of the center's operations.

Tretheway also announced that Bryden Taylor, former announcer for Radio Station WVPO, has been added to the center staff as a relief operator.

Toll Bridge Closed At Water Gap

DELAWARE WATER GAP

Borough Council here was told that all detour signs were taken down yesterday within the borough, and all traffic will proceed down Main St. (Alternate Route 611).

The toll bridge, however, will be closed during the time the slopes of the nearby mountain is scaled for rocks which may create danger to passing traffic on the New Jersey side of the river. All traffic crossing the river will use the Portland toll bridge.

Police Officer Al Smith has been detailed to direct school children until the new road is opened and the flow of traffic on Main St. slows.

Three Prizes

A representative of the State Highway Dept. has been asked to meet with the council on three matters in the future—lower the speed on Route 611, lower the speed on the river road to 35 mph and make the entire strip no passing, and erect signs along the new stretch of highway notifying drivers they are in Delaware Water Gap.

Borough Engineer Edward Hess was authorized by council to continue surveys concerning the area to place a retaining dam on borough property at the Schimpf property. Weirs have already been placed to measure the flow of water and a catch basin has been planned for construction at the old reservoir site near the toll bridge.

Financial reports showed:

General Fund—received from garbage collection $163.45; tax returns, $3,972.74; expenditures, $1,197.41; balance, $8,203.18;

water rents, $630.94; expenditures, $204.87; balance, $8,158.24;

highway aid, $2,580.85, and finally expended on the mountain road, $4,000, of which $2,000 will be refunded by Monroe County.

Director, appointed director of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency Wednesday.

Received a report from Snyder.

Minimum Assessments For 237 'Non-taxable' Persons

STROUDSBURG'S 237 "non-taxables" will receive bills for the minimum occupational assessment and per capita taxes, Stroudsburg Borough Council decided last night.

The action was taken after Harold E. Snyder, borough manager reported that George K. Brands, chief Monroe County tax assessor, wrote the borough that his office could not establish a basis for occupational assessment.

The 237 persons affected were dropped from the tax rolls by local assessors. Council returned them to the rolls at last month's meeting.

$100, $30 Assessments

Under last night's proposal, each man on the list will be assessed at $100 occupational tax and each woman at $30. These are the minimum assessments, generally reserved for retired persons.

Three Prizes

Heard Snyder report that one additional agreement for flood control work on Brodheads Creek had been signed at no cost to the borough and that letters from two property owners have been received approving agreements, which have been sent to the proper officers for execution.

Drainage

Snyder and Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess reported that five property owners will be considerably damaged by the flood control project and that a representative of the Department of Forests and Waters met with them this week and will attempt to implement their recommendations for improving the situation.

Authorized installation of a 2,500 lumen street light at the end of W. Bryant St.

Approved advertising for bids on 1,500 feet of two and one-half inch fire hose, the bids to be taken at the Dec. 2 meeting.

Smallest District Divides Election Vote Two Ways

MOUNT POCONO — The Republicans voting in Tuesday's election in the Paradise Annexation of Mount Pocono outnumbered the Democrats exactly three to one. This was easy to account for since only four voters cast their ballots.

The votes showed a total of three for each GOP candidate, and one vote for the Democratic candidates.

However, on local issues, the voting was split, not between those running, but between two communities.

The vote for school director selected only Paradise Township, Helen Donaldson, who won under the GOP candidacy for the post in Paradise, also got the three votes in the annexation making a total of 171 votes.

For the posts of justice of the peace, constable and borough auditor of Mount Pocono, however, the following is shown:

For JP Emma B. Merwin, (D) had 218 votes instead of 217, while her opponent Melvin Reese, (R) received 147 instead of 144; for constable, Roy J. Gross, (R) had 189 votes instead of 186, while Matthew J. Curran (D) had 179 instead of 178, and for borough auditor, Genevieve Battista received 200 instead of 199, and her opponent Romaine H. Wismer, (R) had 168 instead of 165.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Third quarter earnings of McGraw-Edison Co. soared to 87 cents per share, exceeding second quarter income by almost 30 per cent, and closely approached the company's all time high for a single quarter, President Max McGraw announced yesterday.

McGraw-Edison is the parent company of Line Material Industries, which has a plant in East Stroudsburg, Pa.

Net income was reported at $4,830,000 in the quarter on sales and other income of $79,236,000, as compared with net income of $60,761,000 reported last year, based on sales and other income of $60,050,000.

The 87 cents per share income for the third quarter of 1959 represents an increase of 64 per cent over the July-September period, when earnings were 53 cents per share.

In a message to stockholders, McGraw noted that McGraw-Edison sales were up about 20 per cent for the full nine months and were more than 25 per cent greater for the month of September alone. Principal improvements in sales and earnings have taken place in the appliance and Thomas A. Edison divisions, with appliance sales showing an increase of approximately 35 per cent, Mr. McGraw said. Sales of distribution equipment to utilities have also been showing steady improvement.

A shortage of steel has necessitated reduced production in only one of the 31 McGraw-Edison divisions, according to Mr. McGraw. The company made extensive purchases of steel last spring and all other divisions have adequate supplies for the time being, he said.

For the nine-month period ended September 30, net sales and other income of the diversified electrical manufacturing company were $210,752,000 and net income reached $11,298,000, or $2.02 per share. Last year, for the same period, net sales and other income were reported at $171,641,000 with net income at $7,197,000, or $1.39 per share.

The Green ThumbDry Soil Causes Philodendron Leaves To Turn Yellow

By George Abraham
WE'RE receiving many letters from owners of large-leaved philodendrons, asking us why their leaves turn yellow along the edges, with an occasional black patch to mar the beauty. In many instances this is due to a lack of water.

During the Summer and early Fall most foliage do well when soaked once a week. However, after heat has been turned on indoors, plants take up more moisture, and once a week isn't enough.

Dry soil causes the leaves to turn yellow and this is accompanied by a pure black patch or two. When this happens to your philodendrons your first job is to cut out the bad leaves, removing stalk and all.

Next, pay close attention to the amount of water you give the plant. The plants do not like a soil that's soggy, but one that's slightly moist. Perhaps two waterings a week is enough, depending on the size and room temperature.

On the whole, it's better to give plants a good soaking, then let them dry out a bit between waterings. Never allow the pots to stand in a jardiniere or other type of pot as it causes leaves to turn yellow.

Most foliage plants like water sprayed on leaves, or syringed regularly to remove the dust.

Dust slows down the growth of plants by clogging the pores. Wash glossy-leaved plants off with soapy water, or damp cloth.

For a shiny effect, use half and half mixture of milk and water, or you can buy a preparation from your florist. Never use olive oil, although glycerine works fine.

Insect-infected plants can be put on the compost because insects are tougher to kill than plant diseases. If you had trouble with asters this year, next year resort to the so-called "soil wash." Rotation is smart business because the disease remains dormant in the soil for years.

As a final word, keep in mind that most foliage like it warm. Too high a temperature is harmful (over 80 degrees) and will cause leaves to turn brown at the edges. Excess fertilizer will do the same.

Feed your foliage a weak liquid plant food once every three or four weeks and you'll have better luck than if you give them big doses at a feeding.

Th Compost Pile: During the Fall cleanup, do not put diseased plants on the compost pile. Take for example, the aster plant. If it had a virus known as aster yellows, in which the leaves, buds and flowers take on a sickly yellow color, it can be a spreader of disease next year.

Such sick and wilted plants should have been pulled and burned to prevent insects from spreading the disease next year. It's good gardening to keep off all diseased plants, whether aster, iris, or what not.

Most foliage plants like water sprayed on leaves, or syringed regularly to remove the dust.

Question Box

By George Abraham
C. T. of Stroudsburg: "I have a chance to get some wood chips, made from ground tree limbs. Can these be used for mulching? I talked to one man who used them around his roses last year after killing them with dirt, and he claims he didn't lose any of the 100 roses in his bed! Are wood chips of any value?"

Wood chips, like sawdust and other wood wastes can be used full in the garden. Both aerate the soil, increase the moisture holding capacity of the soil, and can be used as a mulch. Like sawdust, woodchips have no appreciable effect on soil acidity, nor are they toxic to plants, aside from the temporary shortage of nitrogen they may cause. Pine chips, birch, oak and just about all kinds have been shown to be non-injurious.

One way to make the chips more effective is to add a form of nitrogen to replace the nitrogen lost by bacteria which decompose the chips. I use liquid fertilizer with a formula of 23 percent nitrogen, 21 percent phosphoric acid, and 17 percent potash.

This is mixed with water and sprinkled over the mulch. Other gardeners use Cyanamid (45 per cent nitrogen) to offset the nitrogen shortage. These materials add nitrogen to the chips and also help in the process of decomposition.

If you use the chips for a mulch, let them rot in the soil each year, rather than remove them. Work the partially decomposed material into the soil when you plow or spade.

As for a mulch on roses, many gardeners I know will first place a mound of soil around them, and then place the chips over the mound to serve as an extra blanket.

T. H. of Brodheadsville: "Please tell me what bugs up my front lawn. I never see any dogs or cats in the lawn, yet the grass is freshly dug each morning."

This sounds like the work of a skunk. This nocturnal animal is seeking out grubs of common insects such as Japanese, May, and Asiatic beetles. In the process of digging them out of the sod the skunk leaves the lawn in a shambles. One of our readers stayed up all night to watch for this animal and she reports watching 3 skunks at work in the lawn, feeding on the grubs.

CONTROL: Don't try to get rid of the skunks. Aim at getting rid of their source of food—the grubs. Use DDT, Chlordane, DDT or Dieldrin and fall is a good time to apply them. Do not apply when the ground is frozen, however.

Homeowners who do not have skunk trouble, but have noticed brown patches in the soil should be on the alert for grubs. Check a square foot or so of turf.

Tax Forms Due Late In December

SIXTY MILLION taxpayers will receive their 1959 Federal income tax forms and filing instructions through the mails in late December and early January. Dana Latham, commissioner of U. S. Internal Revenue, announced yesterday.

Latham also announced that a limited quantity of forms will be available starting Dec. 1 to tax practitioners who need advance copies to accumulate the necessary tax information from their clients.

Three different types of forms will be mailed to the 60,000,000 individual taxpayers this year, Commissioner Latham said.

Income Deductions

"The type that any one taxpayer will receive," he said, "will depend on the items of income and deductions which that taxpayer reported on his 1958 return."

He requested each taxpayer to fill out the form he receives, and if it covers his reporting requirements for 1959 to send it in as quickly as possible.

"If the form does not meet your 1959 reporting requirements," the commissioner said, "you can get the right form after Jan. 1 at your local IRS office, or at most post offices and banks."

The Daily Investor'Something For Everyone

By William A. Doyle
Q. The government has increased the interest rate on series E and series H savings bonds to 3% percent, for bonds purchased on and after June 1, 1959. But what about the people who bought those bonds for many years prior to that date? Any increase for them?

A. Yes, there was something for everybody in the latest hike in interest on savings bonds.

Let's take the E bond situation first. They are "discount" bonds. You buy them at one price and redeem them at a higher price. How much higher depends on how long you hold them. They increase in value as the interest on them accumulates.

E bonds purchased on and after June 1, 1959, accumulate interest at the rate of 3% percent a year if they are held to maturity. That doesn't mean that the interest accumulates evenly each year. It doesn't. It starts low and builds up. For instance, if you buy a $100 bond now, you pay $75. If you cash in after one year, you receive $76.76; after two years, $79.60; after three years, $82.64; after four years, $86; after five years, $89.60; after six years, $93.28; after seven years, $97.08, and at maturity (seven years and nine months) $100.

The E bonds sold before June 1 had longer terms to maturity and lower interest rates. They ranged from the original issue (sold beginning May 1, 1941) which accumulated interest at the annual rate of 2.9 percent if held for 10 years to the 3.73 percent eight-year-11-month bonds sold from Dec. 1, 1958, until the latest 3% percent bonds came out.

In between, there were various other E bond issues sold—with different terms and different interest rates. And, when a bond matured and was not cashed the interest rate cycle started all over again—low at the beginning and building up again.

However, with the latest interest rate boost, provisions were also made to raise the interest on all outstanding E bonds. This gets real complicated. But it can be boiled down to this: Those bonds earn at least $\frac{1}{2}$ of one percent more than before from June to their next maturity date.

The improvement in interest is lower if the bonds are cashed before their next maturity.

To calculate the changes in each bond would require the services of a giant brain. However, the U. S. Treasury Department has put out a 48-page circular that makes it easy to figure out what every E bond ever sold is worth at any date. All paying agents for the bonds (banks, savings and loan associations, etc.) are supposed to have copies.

Copies can be obtained by writing to the U. S. Treasury Department, Office of the Secretary, Washington, D. C. Ask for Department Circular No. 633, Fifth Revision.

The circular has 40 pages of tables. To find out what your bond is worth, you simply find the table covering the date on which you bought the bond, scan down the column covering the period you have held the bond and you have your answer.

Pretty much the same can be said about H bonds—which are redeemable (except for the first six months after purchase) at the purchase price. The interest on those bonds is paid by the Treasury Department every six months—by check.

The interest rate on them is also an increasing scale setup.

The interest rate on H bonds sold after June 1 is also 3% percent if held to maturity—10 years. And the interest rate on outstanding H bonds has been increased—for perods following June 1.

The Treasury Department circular outlining the H bond changes is No. 905, Second Revision.

Just Between Us —

—by Bobby Westbrook

There may have been thousands outside the Daily Record office on election night but they made no impression inside where the jingle of telephones, the litany of numbers and antiphonal chorus of voting districts and candidates would have drowned out a full symphony orchestra.

Last night it was reversed. Outside it was quiet and dark and lonely, and inside were what seemed like thousands of high school students on a tour of the plant. The view of the news room at that hour was a peculiar one. Every man in the place was out on a wreck, a meeting or a story, and the total staff on display was me.

And after the hoop-la of election night, I wasn't much to see. However I could have pointed out with pardonable pride, that the women did pretty well in this election, and we know have our first major county office held by a woman and our first woman councilman.

However, yesterday was a fitting one to follow an election night. Dark enough for sleeping late, dismal enough to give you an excuse for not cleaning, and just right. It was relaxing to linger over a luncheon at a candlelit table while the flow of talk ranged from modern art to cooking, from weddings to babies and back again.

To sit by a fireplace warm and snug with the rain whistling down outside and the deer coming out to feed in the field — that was pleasant. But the pleasant part of all was writing 30 on the last story and going home to bed.

Fresh Mushroom Season Opens In Penna. Food Prices Drop Slightly This Week

rooms are planted in the fall as they require cool temperatures and are harvested during the winter and spring. A few growers are using air conditioning to provide suitable year-round growing conditions.

Most mushrooms are grown in houses without windows or in discarded mines. Darkness isn't essential but they grow just as well in the dark and are whiter. Also, the absence of windows helps to maintain the correct temperature. Commercially cultivated mushrooms are not to be confused with those found growing wild in damp places.

Cultivated Mushrooms

The first successful attempt to cultivate mushrooms was made by the French during the 17th century. By 1900 the city of Paris was sitting on 150 miles of mushrooms being grown in caves some 100 feet underneath the city and producing mushrooms for their market.

Under The Bench Beginning

In this country the first mushroom farm was established on Long Island about 1880. Soon afterwards, in not too far off Pennsylvania . . . Kent Square, Chester County . . . some florists started to grow mushrooms as a side line. The mushrooms were planted under the benches used to hold flowers in the greenhouse. This method proved far better than trying to cultivate them in fields. As the market expanded special mushroom houses were built and Kent Square came to be considered, and still is, the capitol of the mushroom industry.

The culture of mushrooms is highly skilled and is contrary to that of other crops. They are the fruit of an edible fungus growing without roots, leaves, or green coloring matter. Mush-

CAS Attends Conference On Adoption

A. J. Molitor, Jr., executive secretary of the Monroe County Children's Aid Society and Mrs. Frances Stepro, case-worker have returned from a two day inter-agency conference on adoption collaboration held in Bowlings Springs.

There were 35 people from eight affiliated agencies meeting with the adoption staff of the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania. In five sessions, the group discussed new research on the effect of separation and adoption of the older child over 12; reviewed medical and legal standards of adoption, and discussed the need for more adoptive homes.

Although the percentage of people wanting to adopt children out runs the number of children available, there is need for different types of homes including farm homes.

The applications for adoption are being handled faster, it was reported, with about one out of three families who meet the age, residence and religious requirements able to select a child.

The membership committee in charge of the program includes Mrs. A. J. Molitor Jr., Miss Margaret Mutchler, Mrs. M. H. Spinner, Mrs. John Stanford and Mrs. Claude W. Leister.

The culture of mushrooms is highly skilled and is contrary to that of other crops. They are the fruit of an edible fungus growing without roots, leaves, or green coloring matter. Mushrooms are planted in the fall as they require cool temperatures and are harvested during the winter and spring. A few growers are using air conditioning to provide suitable year-round growing conditions.

Most mushrooms are grown in houses without windows or in discarded mines. Darkness isn't essential but they grow just as well in the dark and are whiter. Also, the absence of windows helps to maintain the correct temperature. Commercially cultivated mushrooms are not to be confused with those found growing wild in damp places.

Cultivated Mushrooms

The first successful attempt to cultivate mushrooms was made by the French during the 17th century. By 1900 the city of Paris was sitting on 150 miles of mushrooms being grown in caves some 100 feet underneath the city and producing mushrooms for their market.

Under The Bench Beginning

In this country the first mushroom farm was established on Long Island about 1880. Soon afterwards, in not too far off Pennsylvania . . . Kent Square, Chester County . . . some florists started to grow mushrooms as a side line. The mushrooms were planted under the benches used to hold flowers in the greenhouse. This method proved far better than trying to cultivate them in fields. As the market expanded special mushroom houses were built and Kent Square came to be considered, and still is, the capitol of the mushroom industry.

THE DRIVE continues for a higher spot in the prediction department as we enter the eighth week of the crystal-ball gazing. Naturally there is a method to our madness—a raise from the boss.

Seriously though—oh yes we could use more cabbage—last week we picked up four more points by picking 15 right, four wrong, and had one tie. This boosted our season norm to .765 via 82 right, 25 wrong and five deadlocks.

Another weekend of activity and there are some humdingers to look over before casting a vote. Here goes:

East Stroudsburg Teachers Over Cortland — Jack Gregory's Warriors as tight a unit around giving up TD's will have its hands full with big and rough Cortland. But ESSTC in its last three games has held the opposition scoreless and showed a defense that appears to be getting better with each passing game. Whether the Warriors can generate enough steam to put across one or two touchdowns remains to be seen. One TD though should be enough for them to get their fifth victory.

Stroudsburg High Over Slatington — Two games within a space of five days is a plenty of action for any eleven. Asking for two victories within that time is also expecting a lot. But Walt Bjorn has the offense and a rejuvenated defense going in high gear. It will take more than a fired-up club to bring them down and from their high-flying position.

East Stroudsburg High Over Port Jervis — There could be a let down in the Cavaliers camp after its great, but losing battle to Hellertown last week. But the team would like to get Coach Jack Kist back on the winning trail again. Port has its usual good eleven but we like Eastburg because of its rebounding faculties.

Bangor High Over Palmerton — This is one of those toughies. The Blue Bombers aren't the paties of old and last week's win over Emmaus shows this. Also Bangor has come a long way and their comparatively easy victory over Emmaus attests to this. It will be a battle of behemoth lines—the one that gives will suffer. Palmerton will.

Hollertown High Over Penn Argyl — The Panthers are a well balanced eleven. Pen Argyl isn't. But is it as simple as that?

Pine X High Over St. John's — Coach Vince Shemansky's Royals have been making us look good every week. Why should we step off a winner.

Wilson High Over Parkland — The wheels of success are starting to turn in the Warriors favor. Nary a Trojan will stand in its way.

Northampton High Over Nazareth — Around and around it goes, where the score stops nobody knows.

Ottawa High Over Lehighton — The Rough Riders got roughed up Monday as did the Indians. Lehighton we know took the worst beating.

Other Scholastic Games — EASTON over Allentown High; PHILLIPSBURG (NJ) over Bethlehem; ALLENTOWN DIERUFF over Muhlenberg Twp.; and BISHOP MCDEVITT over Notre Dame of Easton.

Collegiate Games — VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE over Lehigh; MUHLENBERG over Albright; RUTGERS over Lafayette; and MORAVIAN over Upsala.

Banks Named National's Most Valuable Player

By Bob Green
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

BOSTON (AP) — Ernie Banks, the Chicago Cub's hard-hitting infielder who set a major league fielding record for shortstops this season, was named the National League's most valuable player of 1959 Wednesday.

The 28-year-old slugger also won the award last year.

Banks, who set a major league mark by committing only 12 errors in 155 games, drew 10 of the 22 first place votes cast by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America in the eight National League cities.

2 Years Straight

Banks thus became the first National League player to be named to the honor in consecutive years since the baseball writers took over selection of the most valuable player in 1931.

He was named on every ballot and drew a total of 232 points.

Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee's third baseman, drew five first place votes, was named in a tie with Banks on another and finished second in the balloting with 189½ points.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Los Angeles' Wally Moon got the only other first place votes.

Giardello Unanimous Victor Over Tiger In TV Fiasco

CLEVELAND (AP)—Joey Giardello evened the score with Dick Tiger of Nigeria Wednesday night by winning a unanimous decision in their 10-round middleweight bout. But it was a close one, just as when Tiger decisioned Joey in Chicago five weeks ago.

Referee Don Gonzales scored it 45-44 for Giardello, Judge Charles Bill had it 45-44, and Judge Herb Williams gave Joey a 47-45 margin.

There were no knockdowns, or near knockdowns, but Giardello jabbed a one-inch gash over Tiger's right eye.

At 161, Tiger, whose home is now in Liverpool, England, had a pound advantage on Giardello, a former Philadelphia fighter now from Rosedale, N.Y.

The fight pattern had Tiger moving in and throwing left hooks—many of them wild—and Joey jabbing effectively with his left and landing an occasional right.

During the fourth round, which provided some of the fight's best action, Giardello scored with a hard right to the body. His left jabs had cut open at the outer edge of both Tiger's eyebrows. Only the right eye cut, however, was reopened.

LSU's Cannon Named AP's Back Of Week

By JACK OWNES

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — When the going got rough for Louisiana State, Billy Cannon got going on an 89-yard punt return through five tacklers for a touchdown.

The feat won top-ranked LSU a 7-3 victory over Mississippi Saturday and Cannon the Associated Press back-of-the-week honors.

And it may have given him a chance to repeat All-America honors if he can couple it with a good season finish.

The run may go down in history.

Cannon said he didn't plan to take the long bouncing, 47-yard punt from Jake Gibbs on the LSU ill. His own earlier fumble had helped Ole Miss to a 3-0 lead and he didn't want to take any chances.

Just Raw

The ball took a high bounce," Cannon said, "and fell right into my arms...I took two steps forward and just started running."

He has gained 1,647 yards rushing during his three-year college career. Three regular season games, against Tennessee, Mississippi State and Tulane, remain on the LSU schedule.

The 22-year old senior, father of three daughters, is driving to the school record 1,707.

Cannon has shouldered a major share of the load shifted by the graduation last year of J. W. Brodmax, then his attack running partner on the team that rocketed to fame.

This year, under a tougher schedule, Cannon has led his team in scoring, rushing, pass receiving, interception returns, punt returns and kickoff returns. And he has been second in punting.

But the effort against Ole Miss was the crowning touch.

"I've never seen a better run in football," LSU Coach Paul Dietzel said.

The coach who lost because of it, Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss, said: "It was the greatest run I ever saw in the toughest ball game I ever saw played."

British Net Open Okayed

MAN — British tennis fans were certain Wednesday that plans for an open tourney were approved Tuesday night at a secret meeting of Wimbledon officials.

California officials have charged, and USC Coach Don Clark and McKeever dismissed, that the 28-pound guard deliberately hit halfback Bates with an elbow in falling on him along the sidelines after the whistle had blown last Saturday. The Trojans won 14-7.

McKeever contends he could not stop nor change direction.

Sam, Tony, Jiggs and King are four police dogs who kept the fans in check at Lions' last two games here. They were brought in after Lion supporters started pulling out the posts and tearing up the turf after each victory.

The All-England Club, which operates Wimbledon, refused to comment on the meeting but Col. Duncan Macaulay, its secretary, said that "our conclusions are being sent to the British Lawn Tennis Assn. and the international federation. They are the people to make any announcement."

Los Angeles, 2-4 for the season, continues to hold the lead in team offense with 2,159 yards.

New York has picked up 1,916 yards in offense and has given up only 1,605.

Warren Miller offered the innovation and the Rev. William Gilmore gave the benediction.

Warrior Booters Notch 4th Win

EAST Stroudsburg Teachers soccer team went above the .500 mark yesterday, blanking Wilkes College, 2-0, on the Warriors field....

It was the fourth triumph in seven outings for the charges of John Eiler.

East Stroudsburg scored in the second and third stanzas to post the win. Fine defensive play kept the visitors at bay throughout the contest.

Outside left Bob Ritcey sent the Warriors in front with 8:05 gone in the second period when he dented the Wilkes goal. An assist by Ernie Howe set up the Warriors first tally.

Howe, center fullback, scored the final ESSTC marker at the 10-minute mark in the third period.

Uses 22 Subs
East Stroudsburg coach Eiler used 22 reserves in the contest, clearing his bench of every available hand.

The Warriors wind up their season Saturday, traveling to Trenton to meet the Teachers booting team of that city.

McCord made Little All-American last year. Seems no reason he won't do it again this season.

They call him "Stumbling Sam" because he runs like he's always stumbling. Actually, he's usually stumbling when somebody is tackling him but regains his balance and goes on.

McCord has thrown nine touch-down passes this season and scored three touchdowns himself. In 1959 he threw nine touch-down passes and scored 50 points.

Plenty Of Football 'At Right Time' This Weekend For Local Followers

PLenty Of football is in store for local diehards this weekend. And all of the games are being played at a time which will give everyone the opportunity to see East Stroudsburg Teachers, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg highs in action.

Kicking off the weekend slate is the Stroudsburg and Slatington High skirmish at Gordon Giffels Field tomorrow night, starting at 8 o'clock.

Saturday afternoon East Stroudsburg Teachers will host Cortland State on the Warriors gridiron. Game time is 2 o'clock.

Host Port

Saturday night, East Stroudsburg High will entertain Port Jervis High at Eastburg's Memorial Stadium. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock. If area gentry would care to see another schoolboy contest Saturday afternoon, then there is the Palmyra High and Bangor set on the Slates Field at 2 o'clock.

Stroudsburg High, scoring 58 points in their last two starts, will be going after its fourth victory of the season.

The Mountaineers of Walt Bjorn are 3-4 thus far. Slatington owns win, three-loss and two-tie record.

Entertain Cortland

East Stroudsburg Teachers will be seeking its fifth triumph of the year under new coach Jack Gregory. The Warriors, who won only two games a year ago, have lost twice and tied one. Cortland comes into the Warriors' lair with a three-victory, two-setback and one-one-deadlock log.

Jack Kist's East Stroudsburg High's eleven also will be after its fourth victory. The Cavaliers who were tied twice have dropped two games. Port, always a tough nut for the Cavaliers to crack, will invade Eastburg with one of its better elevens.

4-Game Streak

Bangor, currently on a four-game winning streak, is searching for win Number Six. The Slates of Dailey Prichardson dropped two starts. Prichardson also has a fine record with five victories and two losses as a boastful point.

Other top games in the Lehigh Valley Friday night has Easton High at Allentown; Allentown Dieruff at Muhlenberg Township; and Catasauqua at Lehighton.

Saturday afternoon's scholastic schedule shows Hellertown at Pen Argyl; Parkland at Wilson Borough; Nazareth at Northampton; and Phillipsburg (NJ) at Bethlehem.

Area collegiate elevens also are in action Saturday afternoon are Ursula at Moravian; Virginia Military Institute at Lehigh; Rutgers at Lafayette; and Albright at Muhlenberg.

Plus After 8th

Pope Plux High of Roestoe has a Sunday afternoon game at Bangor Memorial's Stadium.

The Royals, unbeaten in seven tilts, hope to make St. John's of Pittston their eighth straight victim in a 2 p.m. starting time duel.

Lehigh Back Already Tops Year Ago's Rushing Yardage

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — With three games still remaining on the 1959 Lehigh University football schedule, sophomore Boyd

Taylor has already topped the rushing yardage which led the Engineers for the nine game season last year.

Taylor's 42 yards rushing in Lehigh's 14-0 victory in the mud over Bucknell last Saturday gave him 302 yards for the year, topping Al Richmond's

280 yards of last season.

The crashing halfback from Ridley Park, has more than doubled the next rushing total with his 302 yards. Richmond,

Arlington, Va., is second with 149 yards. The 6-1, 200 pound

Taylor is also the total offense leader, even though he hasn't thrown a pass this year. Boyd's touchdown run gave him 26

points for the year, which also leads the Engineers.

Back Of Game

Taylor was named the "back of the game" by a poll of the sportswriters and broadcasters covering the game. Lehigh's senior tackle Walt Meincke, Summit, N.J., was named the outstanding "lineman of the game."

While quarterback Bob Scheu, Maplewood, N.J., did not figure prominently in the statistics, the junior quarterback's play calling and team direction was superb. Scheu had the Engineers stick to the ground throughout, throwing only one pass, and that was for a six-yard touchdown to end Jim Needham, Binghamton, N.Y.

Scheu had missed the Rutgers game with a bruised kidney.

points for the year, which also

leads the Engineers.

• Dallas Headquarters

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas definitely will become headquarters of the American Professional Football League, Lamar Hunt, said

Tuesday. Hunt, founder of the rival to the league and owner of its Dallas club, said that the matter of the circuit's headquarters was settled last week at a league meeting in New York.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — All-America candidate Richie Lucas and team captain Pat Botula Wednesday predicted that the underdog Penn State football team stands an even chance of beating Syracuse University.

Lucas, versatile quarterback who has led the Nittany Lions to seven straight victories, and Botula, hard-hitting fullback, agreed that so far the team has been only as good as it had to be to win.

"We'll have to rise to the occasion as we have done in the past," Lucas said. "If we come up with a good game, we'll beat them."

2-TD Favorite

Syracuse—first in the nation in total offense, first in scoring and rated fourth in The Associated Press poll—is a two touchdown favorite over the seventh-ranked Nittany Lions.

The two unbeaten powers in Eastern football also will be playing for the Lambert Trophy, symbol of Eastern supremacy.

"I think if we play somebody better, we'll get better and play a a little harder," Lucas said.

However, he said, the whole team would have to be at its best.

Botula agreed that so far this year the team has seemed to play only as well as necessary to win the game.

"Some weekends we have not played up to our capability," he said, "but when the time came to produce we were able to do it."

Show Respect

Both showed respect for the

"Sizable Seven," the Big Orange line.

"We are definitely impressed by the Syracuse line," Botula declared.

"I understand it's a great

one. However, I hope we will be able to penetrate it."

"As far as I'm concerned," he added, "we have a very good line and I'm sure they can get the job done."

Truck Goes Over Wall; Man Unhurt

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Edward R. Reed, 24, Englishtown, N. J., escaped with bruises of both legs and cuts and bruises of the head when his tractor-trailer plunged over a 18-foot embankment at Point of Gap late Tuesday.

He was treated by Dr. Paul Maxwell of Delaware Water Gap and released.

Police Chief Fred Decker said the tractor-trailer, loaded with canned orange juice and other foodstuffs, was proceeding north on Alternate Route 611 when the driver lost control on a curve.

Tractor Upsets

The truck hit curbing on the right side of the road, blew a tire, rubbed against a retaining wall for about 70 feet, tipped over a three-foot wall and toppled into a ditch at the bottom of the embankment beside tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad.

The tractor stopped upside down, while the trailer broke loose from the cab and landed on its right side in the ditch. Trains moved past the vehicle under the direction of flagmen.

Decker said the vehicle was owned by Buckley Trucking, Inc., Robbinsville, N. J.

Boy Burned At Shawnee

TWO youngsters had their troubles with stoves yesterday and received treatment at the Monroe County General Hospital Dispensary.

Daniel Rundie, age one, of Stroudsburg, fell and hit his head on the side of a stove in his home and two stitches were needed to close a cut on his scalp.

Twelve-year-old Marcus Decker, of Shawnee, was treated for first and second degree burns of the face received while he lit a oven at his home.

Pike County Remains In GOP Ranks

the winner for the GOP side of the ballot, while the loser was Ethel Schumaker, a Democrat.
